ARE ALL EYES

DEFECTIVE?

Certain it is that many people experience no trouble with their eyes. Naturally a very large proportion of those who consult opticians or oculists have defective eyes, because the trouble they have leads them to the consultation.

There have been quite a number of people in to see me of late who have nothing at all the matter with their eyes.

If you have any doubt as to the condition of your eyes it will afford you a great deal of satisfaction to know positively. I shall be glad to tell you.

THE WORK HAS BEGUN.

Removing Rubbish and Burned Parts of the Benbow.

A wag remarked Saturday that if you want to keep posted as to who owns the Benbow, read the evening papers every day. The Benbow is being removed to a place where it will be no longer a matter of conjecture. The work of removing the Benbow began this morning, supervised by Mr. Sam Browne, preparatory to rebuilding the burned hotel. A large force will be employed and the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, until the Benbow shall be in shape to take on its former life and scenes of activity.

It is a matter of regret that it has been delayed, even this long, as many among the big crowds who formerly crowded the hotel Saturday and Sunday, have been compelled, for want of room, to go elsewhere. Not only on Sundays are our present hotel facilities taxed, but every day in the week the managers are no count doing all in their power to accommodate and take care of the people, but they simply haven't got the necessary room to do so in a satisfactory manner. But this congested condition of things will soon be remedied. Just what manner of building it will be or how large is not yet determined. The deal was only consummated two or three days ago and the new owners have not had time to make plans for the building. It will be done, however, by the time the rubbish can be cleared away, and the work will be pushed to completion.

A CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

Messrs. Wharton Bros. Making an Effort to Start One.

In response to a popular demand, Messrs. Wharton Bros., booksellers and stationers, have decided to make an effort to start a circulating library for this city, so that people who are not able, financially, to buy the best and latest books can have an opportunity, at a minimum cost, of reading them.

The plan is to install the circulating library on a subscription basis, the fee to be $1.00 every three months, payable in advance. Books costing from $1 to $2 each will be placed in the library, including standard works, popular historical books and works of reference. In the selection of these books they will be guided, as far as possible, by the demands and tastes of subscribers. We commend the plan to all who wish to read the best books and post themselves at little cost.

The Trinity College Student.

In reading the mammoth edition of that most excellent paper, the News and Observer, we have been forcibly struck by the number of students of Trinity College that have come to place of honor and distinction in the state. Hardly the write-up of a town appears in its columns but what the Trinity student appears, and the doings of the boys that went from its historic walls are inscribed, and the part they are acting in the progress and development in the state. We are not surprised at this when we reflect in the long ago these boys have been trained by a man like Craven and are now being fitted for life's battle by a Killig. No one can read the pages of this mammoth paper without being struck with the fact that the former students of Trinity College are playing no small part in the onward progress of North Carolina, and in the development of its native state. And if we are to judge from the present outlook of this most excellent school and the increased attendance the important part the college has played for the upbuilding of the Old North State is to continue, and it is to be a power for good in the future as it has been in the past.—Washington Messenger.

Telegraphed for a Double Coffin.

Mr. N. J. McDuffie yesterday received a message from Mr. S. Bryant, of Randleman, for a small coffin. An hour or two later another message came to send a double coffin. This could not be furnished, and another single one was sent. The burial cases were wanted for Mr. Bryant's little three-month-old twins, who died yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant have many friends in Greensboro who sympathize with them in the loss of their little baby boys.

Postmaster General Smith then delivered a lengthy speech, reviewing the growth of the postal system of the country. The president then proceeded to lay the corner stone. Cabinet ministers were guests.

A JOB IN THE NIGHT.

Half a Mile of Car Track Found Torn Up This Morning.

This morning citizens in the northern part of the city woke up to find that about forty hands had been at work on North Elm street since midnight taking up the old street car track. It had been torn up from the residence of the late David Schenck to Mr. H. W. Wharton's of about half a mile.

Some days ago Capt. Fisher stationed guards somewhere out there to keep people from passing that way. It is presumed the guards were not on duty when the workmen went there after the track shortly after midnight. The work of tearing up the track, it is said, was done by direction of Mr. Cassar Come, who had several years ago purchased that end of the car track from the street car company.

The reason for going about it in the night time was probably to avoid the annoyance of an injunction, as that part of North Elm, according to court decision, belongs to Capt. Fisher, and it is not certain but that he would have filed objections. This is the position of street rumor only. Of course everybody wants to know why the job was done secretly and in the night and the above is supposed to be one of the reasons.

At any rate, the track was removed and up to this writing there has not been any fuss made about it. It may be heard from later.

FELL OVER TWENTY FEET.

Struck the Ground Rock and on the Curb Stone.

Shortly before noon today a young man named Arthur Thomas, of Winston, who was working for the telephone people, fell from a pole on the sidewalk in front of McCauley's building near the depot, and luckily caught on his feet. The distance was about 24 feet and the spot where he fell was a rough one. He struck on the edge of the curb stone and among the rock and gravel hauled there by the railroad company.

Mr. Thomas was considerably shaken up, but does not appear to be badly hurt. He was carried into the wholesale grocery store near where he fell and Dr. Stamey summoned. In a short while he was able to go to his boarding house. He complained only of his ankles hurting him.

MARCONI ONLY 25 YEARS OLD.

Brief but Brilliant Career of the Italian Inventor.

A few details as to the career of the young Italian who has achieved so much fame by his invention of a system of wireless telegraphy will be read with interest. Guglielmo Marconi was born at Griffiore, near Bologna, Italy, April 21, 1874, so he is now about 25 years of age. From a boy he was keenly interested in electricity, and during the period that he was receiving an education at a school at Lagnona and at the University of Bologna, he showed great aptitude for scientific work.

It was in 1895 that he first interested himself in the subject of wireless telegraphy, and during the year succeeded in sending his first message without connecting wires up to a distance of about two miles between two stations on his father's estate near Bologna.

In July, 1896, he left for England, and at the outset met with an unfortunate occurrence. His first attempts were mistaken by the custom house authorities for bombs and infernal machines; they accordingly broke them up. It was a bad beginning, and had Mr. Marconi been superstitious he might have taken it as a bad omen for the future. However, he had no such set of instruments prepared, after time and trouble, and made his first experiments in London at Westbourne Park.

Mr. Marconi was introduced to Mr. Preece, then chief engineer to the London G. P. O., and at his request made some experiments between St. Martin's le Grand and the Thames embankment. These proved highly satisfactory. Mr. Marconi was asked to make further trials on the Salisbury Plain. In May, 1897, the apparatus was tried in the British channel, and signals were easily transmitted through space between Lavernock Point and Bream Down, a distance of 26 miles.

Subsequently Mr. Marconi went to Rome at the invitation of the Italian government, and gave a series of exhibitions of his system at the Quirinal before the king and queen of Italy and high Italian officials. It was determined to put the method into practical use at Spizizza. A station was erected on land at the arsenal, and two Italian battleships were kept in constant telegraphic communication with land up to twelve miles from the place where the signals were fixed.

Mr. Marconi says his system has been in use in the Italian navy for two years. A number of installations have been erected and are working along the coast, two of these being at Spezia.

The Italian government, anxious to show that the saying "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country" does not apply in this case, has conferred upon Mr. Marconi the honor of knighthood.—Baltimore Sun

THE CRAIG LAW WINS.

Judge Brown's Decision in the Case of Debnam vs. Telephone Co.

Raleigh, Oct. 7.—A special to the News and Observer from Durham, N. C., says: Judge Brown has rendered his decision in the case of W. K. Durham vs. Southern Bell Telephone Company, which was argued on Thursday for removal to the federal court, asked for by the defendant, on the ground that the Bell Telephone Company is a corporation of this state. The defendant asked for a removal on the ground that the Southern Bell Telephone Company was a citizen of the state of New York and not a citizen of this state and therefore had a right to try in the federal court. The plaintiff opposed the removal and claimed that while the defendant was a citizen of New York the Craig act made the company a citizen of this state also. The company had been domesticated under the provisions of the Craig act, but claimed that it did not change the citizenship in the least. In his decision last yesterday afternoon, Judge Brown sustains the Craig law.

The defendant has given notice of appeal to the supreme court and from there the case will go to the circuit court and on up to the United States supreme court for a final decision on this point of law.

FIRST FOOTBALL GAME.

University Beats A. & M. College in a Well Played Contest.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 7.—In the two twenty-minute halves Carolina won the first game of the season today from the Agricultural and Mechanical College by a score of thirty-four to nothing, making seventeen in each half. Carolina's playing was steady and magnificent. The A. & M. boys played good ball. For the home team, Cox, Bennett, Shaw, Graves and O'Neil's general playing and Kiehl's long runs of forty-five, thirty and sixty yards were features. For the visitors, Pashall, Person and Whitley played great ball. University's playing eclipsed expectations and bade fair to exceed that of last year's team. Umpire, Carr; referee, Baskerville.

How He Rested.

It is related of an employee of one of Greensboro's hotels, that after a long season of close confinement and hard work, the proprietor gave him a week's vacation.

Accordingly the young man packed his grip and boarded the midnight train for Norfolk. Arriving there early the next morning he began to gaze at the sights and during the day walked forty miles. That was a good rest spell.

And he didn't care to rest any longer, so he boarded the train that night and rode all night again, arriving here in time for breakfast. It is also related of him (though we don't believe it) that he brought back his dress suit case full of fish.

On Dewey day, at Three Oaks, Mich., Miss Helen Gould will unveil the Spanish gun captured by Dewey and won by the village.

GREAT BRITAIN PREPARES

Tremendously for the South African Trouble.

5,000 RESERVES SUMMONED

General Buller Will Have Command of Twice as Many Troops as Wellington Had.

By Cable to the TELEGRAM.

Rome, Oct. 9.—The new papers here say the pope has recently sent another letter to Queen Victoria appealing to her on humanitarian grounds to use her influence in behalf of peace. The Queen is credited with replying courteously to the effect that it is out of her power to go against the popular opinion or to interfere with the prerogative of the constitutional ministry.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

London, Oct. 9.—The queen's speech to be read at the opening of parliament will sharply define the relations of Great Britain with the Transvaal, will describe the Transvaal operations and the nature of the police measures necessary to restore British authority in the Transvaal state, and also to repress the systematic cruel ill treatment of British subjects.

ENGLAND'S IMMENSE PREPARATION

London, Oct. 9.—The vastness of Great Britain's military preparations, which is seemingly out of all proportion to the work in hand in South Africa, was not realized by the public until the war office announced that 25,000 reserves have already been summoned. Gen. Buller will have command of twice as many troops as Wellington had. The reason for this is doubtless a fear of a native uprising, and possibly England's conviction of the advisability of showing Europe that she is prepared to resist any action resulting from the prevalent continental ill will.

PRINCELY GIFTS TO COLLEGES.

Generous Americans Have Bestowed Largely of Their Wealth.

In no previous year has the cause of education in the United States been so enriched by donations and bequests as in 1899, says the Chicago Tribune. Through more than three months yet remain, the institutions of learning have received $24,920,817, which is $15,634,397 more than they received all last year. These twenty-four donations aggregate $24,920,817 or $11,298,850 more than the total of 1898.

Kivett's Store Entered.

This morning Mr. Kivett, who runs a small grocery and restaurant on South Elm street, on opening up, found that during the night some one had entered the place, and a cake and other eatables were taken.

The thief was hungry, perhaps, and didn't think he wanted anything except something to eat, as the cash drawer was unopened. Entrance was effected by cutting one iron rod across a back window and bending another. At that it must have been a small fellow, and it is more than likely that he made his exit before eating what he had stolen, or he might have been found there this morning.

Mr. Kivett says he has no idea who the thief is, but thinks it some of the small boy vagrants who are so often seen roaming around the streets.

In Federal Court.

The most important case disposed of today was that against J. D. King of Winston, for refusing cigar boxes. Not guilty.

The case of U. S. vs. Kerper Bros. was continued on account of illness of Mr. R. B. Glenn, counsel for defendant.

THE COST OF CHEAP MEN.

Some Facts Tending to Upset an Old and Apparently Reasonable Theory.

Capitalists have been acquiring a little education of late in the matter of the considerations to be taken into account in dealing with workmen. Some of them have believed that nothing needed to be regarded except wages. If you could save 25 cents a day on the pay of each man you hired, you would be just that much ahead. But there have been some incidents recently that have tended to upset this apparently reasonable theory.

For instance, after the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company had got rid of most of its experienced men and put strangers in their places, it began to suffer from accidents, delays, and complaints of patrons. It also found its receipts diminishing, and one of its officials alleged that some of the new conductors were "knocking down" 90 per cent. of the fares.

The other day the Campania came into port at New York with Lord Charles Bessborough and a lot of other disappointed passengers, just too late to see the Dewey celebration. She had been delayed by a set of green-freen taken because the old hands were on strike. The extra cost alone consumed on the voyage would probably have more than covered all the demands of the strikers.

CLEARING AWAY THE DEBRIS.

The Telegram to-day offers some pleasing news to its readers in the matter of work having begun promptly this morning clearing up the ruins of the old burnt Benbow hotel. The Benbow was too well known and well liked an inn to let fall into desuetude. The very name suggests good meals, good accommodations, good cheer, and Greensboro. Moreover, the people of Greensboro are not the people to let such a beautiful site on such a commanding elevation on our finest street stand covered with ugly and useless walls of blackened stone and mortar. And it would certainly be most unwise and unbusinesslike to allow this popular hostelry, with the enviable prestige it bore, to be forgotten in its value to the city and the public.

As mentioned in the Telegram previously, but for misunderstandings in the matter of alleged sales, leases, etc., the Benbow walls would have been razed long since and a handsome modern hotel stood in its tracks today.

Now that the thing is sure, we congratulate the public-spirited managers, the travelling public and our ever progressive Greensboro.

Here is the way "General" Otis is campaigning in the Philippines:

"Pasig has been captured three times and abandoned twice."
"Guadalupe has been captured four times and abandoned three times."
"Mariguana has been captured six times and abandoned six times."
"Canita has been captured twice and abandoned twice."

"Antipolo has been captured once and abandoned."

"Morong has been captured twice and abandoned twice."

"Santa Cruz has been captured once and abandoned."

"Pagsanjan has been captured once and abandoned."

"Longos has been captured once and abandoned."

"Pae has been captured once and abandoned."

"Novaliches has been captured twice and abandoned twice."

"San Mateo has been captured once and abandoned."

"San Jose has been captured once and abandoned."

"Norzagay has been captured once and abandoned."

"Augot has been captured once and abandoned."

"San Miguel de Mayuna has been captured once and abandoned."

"Mexico has been captured twice and abandoned once."

"Bacolod has been captured twice and abandoned once."

"Macabebe, the only town friendly to the Americans, was taken and deserted and allowed to be burned by the natives."

"Quingua was taken twice and abandoned once."

While all this senseless dilly-dallying is going on, who is going to answer for the blood of the 2,700 men killed and wounded under the direction of Otis?

PREPARING LAND FOR WHEAT.

The Use of Fertilizers on Land Deficient in Humus—Bare Land.

J. A. Williams, of Millbrook, Tenn., writes:

"Do you think that after plowing land early for wheat in the fall it would increase the yield to harrow the land and roll it until it is so compact that just enough dirt will fall behind your drill on the wheat to cover it?"

"Is not the application of heavy fertilizers injurious to land deficient in humus, unless immediately followed with grass—say, clover or herds grass?"

"Which do you think the most injurious to very poor land—to let it lay out exposed to the sun naked or put in grain, even if you must use fertilizer to make a yield?"

I believe it is best to plow wheat land early, provided the land is rolled as soon as plowed and followed by the harrow. After the first harrowing, cultivation should be repeated at least once a week, and if it rains, to prevent a dust blanket. The dust blanket acts exactly as a mulch, and prevents the rapid evaporation and loss of moisture that would otherwise take place. As you are aware, the soil is filled with capillary pores that have the power of lifting moisture from the lower areas to the surface. These capillaries work their evaporating way to the surface, and thus the soil is opened to the evaporating influence of the sun, and not only carries off the moisture, but also some of the nitrogen. By cultivating with the harrow to the depth of two or three inches, the connection of these pores with the surface is destroyed, and hence all the moisture in the soil is reserved for the future crop. Besides that, an abundant supply of moisture enables fermentation and the breaking down of plant food to go on more rapidly in the soil.

I do not believe in compacting the soil too much, as that prevents the ready distribution of plant roots in the soil, and the vigor of the crop depends largely on its having deep, wide-spreading roots to draw an abundant supply of food from the soil area.

I also think it is best to drill in wheat deep rather than shallow. It may take it a little longer to get established and started growing, but when this is accomplished the growth will be more vigorous.

The heavy application of some artificial fertilizers might injure the land, though it would be more likely to injure the roots of plants or the seed that it came in contact with. It is poor economy to heavily fertilize soils deficient in humus. Most of our soils are more in need of this element than of any other, and if it is abundantly supplied first, it enables the formation of new chemical combinations in the soil that render available large quantities of plant food, and at the same time prevent injuries by firing that might be induced where heavy fertilizers are alone used.

Clover (or cow peas in the South—Ed.) is the best thing to use to give humus to the soil, for the reason that it is a legume and can absorb large quantities of nitrogen from the air through the tubercles on its roots. It thus increases the supply of nitrogen in the soil and renders the use of this element in the form of an artificial unnecessary. Humus, of course, enables the soil to withstand drought and to retain a much larger quantity of moisture, both of which are essentials where a large crop production is sought.

I would not let very poor land lay out exposed to the elements. The proper way to do is to put in some crop, especially a legume, and plow under once and awhile and give humus to the soil, and then, if necessary, add artificial fertilizer to supply the other elements. In this way you can soon build up a worn-out soil. If you let it lay exposed, the fertilizing elements, as they are rendered available, are in a large measure dissipated by means of evaporation from the surface or they are lost by subterranean drainage.

Yellow Jaundice Cured

Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from yellow jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours, M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky." Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

I believe a great many Greensboro people as also a great many other people have an abiding faith in the future of Greensboro as a city. Certainly there is much to suggest that the place will continue to grow in commercial importance and in population.

With this we are not directly concerned, but there is another line of growth that does deeply concern those of us who care for more than the mere food and raiment problem, and that is the culture atmosphere.

It is characteristic of all rapidly growing communities to neglect those branches of education that have no place in the scheme of "useful sciences." Art is not thought of until dollars are piled upon dollars.

This is all natural enough and it would be folly to cry out against it, for it is merely the repetition before our eyes of the history of all growing communities. What we are to do is to watch for the germs of culture that appear and nurture them. We cannot alter the tendency of rapid growth to choke art, but we may interpose forces of an opposite tendency that will neutralize and perhaps counterbalance the demoralizing effect of material progress.

There are several agencies that may with comparative ease be brought to bear upon our conditions for its betterment. A few of them I purpose discussing in a series of short articles to appear once a week in the Telegram.

A musician once said to me, in speaking of newspaper articles on musical subjects, "It's a thankless job—nine hundred and ninety-nine people don't know what you are talking about, and the other one (who does know) don't care." I don't believe this and so I am going to write of the things that I believe will assist the musical development of the city we live in.

As I have said before, I am anxious to hear from musical people, amateurs or professionals, who have something to say, and are willing to say it for the general good.

Messrs. Cone, Crawford, Bradley and Gale are to do the quartette work in the coming "home minstrel." It will be good work.

We are promised at an early date a sacred concert at West Market street church, under the direction of Dr. J. H. Wheeler. There are to be some excellent chorus numbers to which the Home Orchestra Club will supply the accompaniments. A very satisfactory rehearsal was held at the church yesterday afternoon. Greensboro has an abundance of good chorus material and a concert of this character will doubtless be very successful and will meet with hearty appreciation.

The Choral Society, of Wilmington, N. C., which suspended business during the summer months, began October 1st, with Mr. George C. Royal as director.—The Musical Courier.

Many Thanks.

"I wish to express my thanks to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for having put on the market such a wonderful medicine," says W. W. Holton, Druggist.

"If you scour the world you will never find a remedy equal to One Minute Cough Cure," says Editor Packler, of the Micanopy, Fla., "Hustler." It cured his family of LaGrippe and saves thousands from pneumonia, bronchitis, croup and all throat and lung troubles. Howard Gardner.

Discovered by a Woman

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night, and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. This writes W. C. Hammick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Copper Colored Splotches.

There is only one cure for Contagious Blood Poison—the disease which has completely baffled the doctors. They are totally unable to cure it, and direct their efforts toward bottling the poison up in the blood and concealing it from view. S. S. S. cures the disease positively and permanently by forcing out every trace of the taint.

I contracted a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards spread all over my body. These spots broke out in sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I reached the doctor's office I had spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried various patent medicines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved and was delighted with the result. The large red splotches on my face, neck and chest, before long disappeared entirely. I regained my lost weight, became stronger, and my appetite greatly improved. I was clean and clear, and my skin as clear as a piece of glass.

Don't destroy all possible chance of a cure by taking the doctor's treatment of mercury and potash. These minerals cause the hair to fall out, and will wreck the entire system.

CURIOUS CUCKOOS.

The cuckoo is generally known only as a bird with a very monotonous note; a continuous cry of "cuckoo, cuckoo" over and over again. Among naturalists, however, the cuckoo is known as a bird that never builds a nest for itself, but takes advantage of one already built by some more industrious bird.
There is a good deal of the cuckoo about these advertisers who, instead of making a success of their own, seek to profit by the success which some one else has made with much effort and labor. It is so with those imitations of Dr. Pierce's method, by which free medical advice is offered, although those who make the offer are without qualified medical ability or experience. And the cry raised in some cases of "woman, woman, woman write to woman" makes the resemblance to the cuckoo even stronger.
There is as far as known no qualified woman physician connected with any proprietary medicine establishment, and none therefore competent to give medical advice. It is certain that there is no one, man or woman, who can offer free medical advice backed by such knowledge and experience as is possessed by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y. For over thirty years Dr. Pierce has made a specialty of the treatment of diseases peculiar to women. In that time he has treated over half-a-million women, ninety-eight per cent. of whom have been perfectly cured. Every sick woman is invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter absolutely without charge or cost. Every letter is held as strictly private and is handled confidentially, and all answers are mailed securely sealed in perfectly plain envelopes bearing no printing whatever upon them.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

If Wishing Were Only Having.

Her, little lassies with eyes of blue,
And brave little laddie with eyes of brown!
What if a fairy should come to you
And show you the way to Grow-up Town!
Now tell me truly, if I have guessed
That this is the gift your heart holds best.
Would you drop your dolly and leave your ball,
And quit your frolics in field and glen,
For the sake of being real women and men?
Say, little lassies, and laddies, too,
Now isn't this just what you would do?
Tell me, oh women with wistful eyes,
And men who pined on life's tollsome way,
What if I told fate, in some fair guise,
Should grant the wish of your heart today!
Weighed in the balance of time's trust,
Which, of all gifts, would you count the best?
Would you leave the crowded city mart,
The glitter of gold, the crown of fame,
To sport as a child with care-free heart,
And grow unclouded by grief or shame?
Tell me, oh world-tried women and men,
Would you be, if you could, a child again?

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

If you are thinking of buying a gun or pistol, the ad of Odell Hardware Co. will interest you.

Miss Emma Whittington, who lives near McLeanville, is visiting friends at 233 Lewis street.

Rev. S. L. Oliver, of Danbury, passed through today enroute to the Presbyterian Synod at Asheville.

Miss Flora Swaim returned at noon from a very pleasant stay of several weeks with her sister in Winston.

There will be a meeting of the board of stewards of Centenary church tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the church. A full attendance is desired.

Claude Kiser, of Rural Hall, N. C., passed through town this morning on his way home from Eastman College, P. N. Y., where he graduated October 4th.

Mr. C. S. Killen, of LaGrange, after spending a few days with the family of Mrs. M. A. Killen, on Asheboro street, returned to her home this morning.

The four-months old daughter of J. E. Delorme died in Madison Saturday and was brought to Greensboro and interred in Greene Hill cemetery this afternoon.

There will be degree work at Greensboro Lodge No. 80, Knights of Pythias tonight. The lodge meets in castle hall at 7:30, and a full attendance is earnestly requested.

Houses are in great demand near the Normal College, and as it is a state institution, land in that vicinity will gradually increase in value. Remember Jordan and McDonald's sale of that beautiful wooded tract tomorrow afternoon and take a free hack at the McAdoo House or court house square.

The services at Centenary church yesterday were interesting and uplifting. Pastor Waggoner preached in the morning a most excellent discourse, as he always does, and at night the pulpit was filled by Rev. J. B. Tabor, pastor of Greensboro circuit, who preached an earnest sermon, that was enjoyed by a large congregation.

As the eastbound train pulled out this morning the cab suddenly became filled with steam and as the train had cleared South Elm street it stopped. A crowd was attracted thinking there was something the matter. A newspaper man asked a train man what was the trouble and he replied: "Oh, nothing, they just stopped to tell that crowd good-bye." And the train went on.

BACK FROM PHILIPPINES.

A Young North Carolinian Sufficiently Amused With War.

A telegram man talked with Randall H. Tussell, of Rose Hill, Duplin county, N. C., at the Clegg Hotel last night. He was stopping over on his way to his home in the eastern part of the state from the Philippine Islands. He was a private in the Third Infantry enlisting at St. Paul, Minn., May 23, 1901, and was afterwards transferred to the Eighteenth Infantry, which sailed for the Philippines August 21, 1905.

Mr. Tussell was engaged in several hard battles with the insurgents around Manila, notably the capture of Cavite and the first expedition to Iloilo. In the latter fight 19 of his comrades were wounded. One Filipino was captured who had been shot 26 times.

Mr. Tussell was discharged from the service on August 23, and arrived at San Francisco Sept. 25. He says he is sufficiently amused with his adventure, although he does not regret it, and returns with his usual good health.

A Great Show Coming.

It is all very well for the lovers of old time minstrelsy to "holler" for the good old companies with "pompy" end men and genuine coon comedy, but the minstrel managers of today come pretty near finding out what the public want and has long since given up any idea of retiring to the old style of minstrelsy. Everything new and up-to-date goes to the extent of giving a personator of the modern negro who never saw the beautiful land of sunny skies, five or six encores, while the minstrel who tries to do anything but an up to date coon, gets much less appreciation.

The managers of "The Great Southern Minstrelsy" are entitled to no small credit, inasmuch as this, their greatest and latest venture bespeaks a liberal amount of real genius and an investment of capital which approaches a great deal more than ordinary generosity. The most extravagant expenditures have been made in engaging the best talent available. Special attention has been given to the vocal and musical portion of the portion of the entertainment, as well as to the comedians and specialty artists. Performance in this city at the Academy next Friday night. Reserved seats on sale at Farley's drug store.

Brown October Ale.

With one exception October shows more beautiful lines, shades blended one with another and up to a dozen different hues in one leaf, than any other month in the year. Anything in the way of October that compares with nature is a grand achievement for the artist. The one exception referred to is the Rufus Waterhouse neckwear. Taste, material and the unusual ability of putting the right shade in the right place has won a reputation for this make of neckwear unequalled. You will find just what you want in any shape at 300 South Elm street, Rankin, Chisholm, Stroud & Rees.

Men's Viscel Calf, British cap, calf-lined, triple-sole tan shoes, at $3.50, are excelled by none and equalled by few. We would like to show you a pair of these and leave it to your own judgment to say if they are not as good as the shoes you see elsewhere priced four and sometimes five dollars a pair.

Jos. Blount Cheshire, Jr., Bishop.
Raleigh, August 30, 1899.

James Reed Injured.

Mr. James Reed struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physician, also used several kinds of ointment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave it any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Mr. Reed is one of the leading merchants of Clay Court House, W. Va. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

A Serious Charge.

A. C. Cline, of Yadkin county, was arrested at Winston Saturday on the charge of making a criminal assault on Miss Mary Kinley, aged fourteen years, near Yadkinville. Cline denies that there was any resistance on the part of the girl. He offered to give the officer who made the arrest eight dollars—all the money he had—to release him. The defendant will be taken to Yadkin county today for trial.

The West Market Meeting.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Rowe preached two powerful sermons at West Market Street church yesterday to large and interested congregations. The protracted meeting there is still in progress, and there will be preaching tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

At last night's services there were two conversions and other penitents. Everybody invited to attend the meeting.
